

MAY

Palmer's Summer Trip.

On Friday May 10th, there will be a visit to Fairford church which has the only complete set of late medieval stained glass windows in a parish church in the country. We will have an introduction and time to look at them and other church fittings. Our own stained glass in St Laurence's is in need of conservation and the Fairford windows were last conserved between 1988 and 1999.

After a light lunch at the Bull in Fairford, we will go to Buscot House, near Faringdon, (National Trust, but administered by the Faringdon Trust). See <http://www.buscot-park.com>. A fine eighteenth-century house, it shows part of the Faringdon Collection of paintings (including Sir Edward Burne-Jones The Briar Rose series) and other paintings by old masters and modern painters. Harold Peto landscaped the gardens.

We will leave from the Assembly rooms at 8.15 am prompt and will leave Buscot at closing time, 4.30pm, reaching Ludlow at 7pm.

Bring binoculars, if you have them, for the windows and your National Trust card if you are a member. Booking is now open; the cost includes coach and entrance ticket, coffee at Fairford, a light lunch (but not drinks) at the Bull Hotel, Fairford, but excludes tea at Buscot (where there is a teashop).
